

The story goes that in the early 14th century, Martin, a young, 18-year old soldier, divided his cape in two to give half to a poor man overcome with cold. Through this act of compassion, Martin came to symbolise the act of sharing.

And at Saint-Martin, the Kressmann family regularly invited a number of guests to celebrate the close of the harvest and spend good times together before the onset of a harsh winter.

Kressmann Croix Saint-Martin was created in this spirit of conviviality and sharing, and its wines are elegant, charming and full-flavoured.

TASTING NOTES:

« On the palate, Croix Saint-Martin Bordeaux Rosé is as lively as its colour would suggest. Aromas of hawthorn and redcurrant on the bouquet, accompanied by zesty notes. Well-balanced on the finish, with abundant freshness.»
